

CALL FOR SPEAKERS

We are seeking expressions of interest from interesting and captivating speakers to present at the Greenlife Industry Australia National Conference, 3-5 March 2020.

We are looking for passionate people to communicate, educate, update and share knowledge of greenlife across a range of industry sectors and conference themes.

Recognising we all have a role to play in the future production and supply of Australian greenlife, the Healthy Plants Healthy People Conference will educate, encourage and enthuse delegates to be leaders in the industry.

The Healthy Plants Healthy People Conference ties into the United Nations proclaimed International Year of Plant Health and will contribute to raising awareness of how protecting plant health can support people through health and well-being, economic development, protecting the environment, providing food security and helping to end poverty.

It is a “ground up” practical conference to assist businesses to be agile, flexible and responsive in a changing operating environment.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- ▶ Sessions must have a greenlife production, retailer, or business focus and must consider the industry's priorities of growing the market, reducing costs and protecting investments.
- ▶ Sessions must have regard for the conference themes as outlined in the application form.
